

Nominees for the Harry C. Moore Basketball Scholarship – one male and one female will receive a $500 scholarship. These student athletes applied for the scholarship after being nominated by his/her coach. The applications were screened by a committee of 20 people associated with the tournament. Those people selected this year’s recipients who will be announce at the conclusion of the Championship games.

Kara Muxlow - “I could not accomplish all that I do without the love and support of my family. Family has played an important role in shaping the person I am and helping me to always strive to do my best. My experiences have made me more outgoing and confident which will be very useful in the future.”

Alex Bartle - “To begin: thank you for the opportunity to apply for the Harry C. Moore Memorial Basketball Scholarship. I’ve always considered myself a leader and I feel like I’ve embraced the leadership roles helping to make my teammates and classmates better while also helping myself. The game of basketball has been a huge factor on building my character. It has created bonds that I will deep forever with my teammates and has created leadership skills I will use for my lifetime.”

Emily Milostan –“I am extremely honored to have been nominated for this scholarship by Coach Huss. I have been watching the Harry C Moore tournament since I was in 4th grade. I never dreamed or imagined that I would have the opportunity to participate in this highly recognized scholarship, nor play in the tournament for four years. I believe that a strong work ethic, commitment to hard work, perseverance and compassion for people are the core qualities of who I am and who I strive to be.”

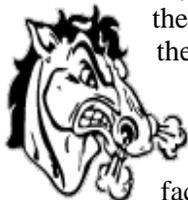

Aaron Glombowski- “Whether it is on the court, in the hallways, or at my job, I am not afraid to take charge and correct a bad situation. One of my favorite quotes is ‘I want to inspire people. I want someone to look at me and say, because of YOU, I didn’t give up.’ This is what good leadership is all about. If I can make an impact in one person’s life, then I have accomplished what I’ve set out to do.”

Olivia Rubick - “I have never been a follower. My parents encouraged me to be the one that classmates and teammates would want to follow by leading through example. There were times when I wanted to lead and no one wanted to follow, but I stayed true to myself. Again, like Mr. Moore, I have done my best and let the results speak for themselves.”

Matt Place II - “I am honored to be considered for this special scholarship. I describe myself as a competitive, hardworking, spirited, straight forward, hones, caring, and kind young man who believes in good morals and leading my example. Most of what I accomplished comes from hustle and determination. I have learned that by working hard I can achieve so much and it has helped me to earn everything I have gotten. .”

Erin Ruhlman – “Shakespeare wrote, ‘And though she be but little, she is fierce.’ That is me. Being a leader is about so much more than just telling others what to do. Leaders help encourage those that follow them. I do my best to always set the example and cheer on my team. I am the one always encouraging others to do their best and always keep the heads held high no matter what the situation. ”

Joe Schulte - “The young years of an individual’s life are the most essential in terms of where a good character needs to be developed. So far in my life, there have been many people, experiences, and other factors that have molded me into who I am today. My father has taught me the importance of always giving your all, being a leader on and off the court, and standing up for what is right. I have been fortunate to grow up in a caring town like North Branch. I have had many opportunities to show who I am and to develop my skills as a leader.”
