

The Harry C. Moore Memorial Basketball Scholarship

The Harry C. Moore Memorial Scholarship was established to honor and acknowledge individuals that exemplified the life of Harry C. Moore. Mr. Moore always told student/athletes to live by one credence—"Do your best." This scholarship is a small way to acknowledge that our student/athletes do try to "do their best."

The Man That Was Harry Moore

Harry was a graduate of Roosevelt High School in Wyandotte, Michigan. After spending two years in Germany after World War II, Harry attended Central Michigan University. It was there that he caught the eye of Danny Rose during an intramural basketball game. Dan Rose asked Harry to become a member of the basketball team at Central. He was already playing on the CMU baseball team so he was used to being busy.

Harry took a position at Capac High School after graduation from Central Michigan University. It was there that he taught and coached his entire career. He taught social studies and physical education and he coached (throughout his career) football, basketball, baseball, and golf. He was the athletic director at Capac for many years. In all of his involvements his heart truly laid in the gym with that orange ball.

The town of Capac became quite proud of their basketball teams under the guidance of Harry Moore. He built a successful program that was known state-wide. At the end of the 1962 season each of the starting five was recognized as All Conference and the team was ranked #1 in Class C, even though they were knocked out of the regionals for the third year in a row by Grosse Pointe Saints Peter and Paul.

Truly More Important

With all of the successes of Harry C. Moore on the basketball court and on the field of competition it was really another factor that inspired him to continue. Each year, each season, each young man was expected to grow into a gentleman. Harry Moore expected his student/athletes to gain character by their association with him. He taught boys to become men!

What has this got to do with me?

Your team will soon be playing in a Christmas Basketball Tournament. That tournament holds the name of Harry C. Moore. You are being nominated, by your coach, as your school's candidate for the Harry C. Moore Memorial Basketball Scholarship. Your application will be one of four the committee will consider. We will announce the recipient after the championship is determined on December 14, 2019. You may claim your award after graduation and enrollment at your school of choice.

What do you have to do?

As Mr. Moore always put it – "Do your best." Tell the committee why you are the best candidate.
